

CHAPTER 4: FINAL DESIGN

This chapter presents the finalized technical implementation of the Bléum Nails By Micah Appointment System, a solution engineered to transition the salon from manual operations to a high-performance digital environment. It details the specific software and hardware configurations used, the rigorous procedures employed for verifying system performance, and the broader technical and societal impact of the design on stakeholders.

4.1 Final Design

The final design implements a Decoupled Full-Stack Architecture, strategically selected for its superior usability and its robust capability to handle real-time scheduling logic through asynchronous processing. This architectural choice ensures that the system remains modular, allowing for independent updates to the user interface and the business logic layer.

4.1.1 Software Application

The software application is a centralized web-based platform divided into a high-performance backend and a highly responsive frontend to ensure a seamless user journey.

- Backend (Python FastAPI): Serves as the central logic engine, managing secure user sessions, comprehensive data validation via Pydantic models, and the specialized Capacity-Limiting Algorithm.
- Frontend (JavaScript SPA): Provides a fluid Single Page Application (SPA) experience utilizing modern HTML5 and CSS3 benchmarks. This ensures instant transitions and a professional brand interface across both mobile and desktop hardware.
- Database (MySQL): A relational database management system that utilizes strict data modeling and normalization to secure client contact records, allergy history, and appointment data.
- Key Features: The system incorporates a multi-tier authentication system, an automated receipt generator, and a localized payment module featuring a secure QRPh display to protect the financial integrity of salon transactions.

4.1.2 Hardware Design

As a web-based solution, the hardware design focuses on universal cross-device accessibility to accommodate all client demographics.

- Client Interface: The platform is optimized for smartphones and tablets, strictly adhering to W3C responsive standards to accommodate the mobile-first behavior of the salon's target audience.
- Administrator Station: The salon technician manages operations via a personal computer or laptop, which provides a stable environment for accessing the comprehensive admin dashboard and daily service analytics.

- Deployment Environment: The application is hosted on standard web servers, ensuring 24/7 availability for clients to browse services and secure appointments at their convenience.

4.2.2 Test Evaluation

The evaluation phase for the Bléum Nails By Micah Appointment System involves comparing test results to the engineering constraints defined in Chapter 1. The goal is to see if the Decoupled Full-Stack Architecture, also known as Design 2 helps streamline salon operations.

1. Evaluation of Key Performance Indicators

The system is evaluated based on test results. We look at the following:

- Task Success Rate, which checks if the system works properly. For example did it block a client attempt and generate receipts correctly? We aim for a 95% success rate as shown in Table 3.1 to consider it a "Pass".
- Response Efficiency, which checks how fast the system works. The mobile standard is more than 2.0 seconds. Our system loaded in 1.1 seconds making it "Highly Efficient" for users on local Philippine networks.
- User Acceptance, which checks if the interface is easy to use. With a score of 10/10 the decoupled design seems to have reduced the workload for the salon owner.

2. Standards Compliance Review

We also verify that the system follows technical standards listed in Section 1.7:

- RA 10173 or the Data Privacy Act ensures client data is protected. The system only allows access to data through Role-Based Access Control.
- ISO/IEC 25010 checks if the system is suitable for its purpose. We confirm that the "3-client limit" logic is correct and consistent.

3. Risk and Reliability Assessment

The system is available 98.0% of the time making it reliable for clients to access 24/7. Although there are risks with web-based hosting, the Code Simplicity Score of 6 is a balance between handling the decoupled architecture and being maintainable, for future updates.

4. Conclusion

Based on the results the Bléum Nails By Micah Appointment System is ready to be implemented. The decoupled architecture balances performance and functionality making salon operations more efficient. The Bléum Nails By Micah Appointment System and Decoupled Full-Stack Architecture help achieve this goal.

4.3 Test and Evaluation Results

LEAVE THIS EMPTY

4.3.1 Test Results

The testing phase was conducted to validate the performance and functional accuracy of the Decoupled Architecture. The following data represents the performance of the Decoupled Architecture during simulated and real-world user interactions.

1. Functional Testing (Task Success Rate)

- The core business logic, the Capacity limiting Algorithm of the Decoupled Architecture was tested through 20 repeated booking attempts.
- Appointment Booking: 19 out of 20 attempts were completed successfully with the Decoupled Architecture.
- Capacity Limit Enforcement: In 5 test cases the Decoupled Architecture correctly blocked a 4th booking attempt for a single day returning a "Daily Limit Reached" notification.
- Payment Module: The QRPh code was successfully generated in all 20 instances with the Decoupled Architecture.
- Resulting Metric: 95% Task Success Rate for the Decoupled Architecture.

2. Performance Testing (Load Speed)

Using automated performance tools and manual mobile testing on a 4G/5G connection in Caloocan City:

- Average Home Page Load: 0.9 seconds.
- Admin Dashboard Load (with Database Fetch): 1.3 seconds.
- Appointment Submission Processing: 1.1 seconds.
- Resulting Metric: 1.1s Average Page Load Speed for the Decoupled Architecture.

3. Reliability Testing (System Availability)

The Decoupled Architecture was. Monitored over a 7-day period to measure uptime:

- Total Monitored Time: 168 hours.
- Downtime: 3.36 hours (due to scheduled database migrations and local network fluctuations).
- Resulting Metric: 98.0% System Availability of the Decoupled Architecture.

4. Usability and Maintainability Results

The Decoupled Architecture was presented to the salon owner and a small group of test clients to gather data:

- User Satisfaction: Participants rated the "app-like" feel of the JavaScript frontend an average of 10/10.
- Code Complexity: A static analysis of the Python FastAPI backend and JavaScript frontend resulted in a Code Simplicity Score of 6 indicating a manageable structure.

4.3.2 Evaluation Results

Objective	Evaluation Outcome	Status
Eliminate Manual Errors	Achieved via MySQL constraints and automated scheduling.	Success
24/7 Accessibility	Achieved with 98.0% system availability.	Success
Secure Payment Tracking	Achieved via QRPh module and automated receipts.	Success
Capacity Control	Achieved via Capacity-Limiting Algorithm.	Success

4.4 Conclusion

The development of the Bléum Nails By Micah Appointment System by Team Sentinails marks a significant milestone in transitioning a traditional home-based micro-enterprise from inefficient, manual physical logs to a sophisticated, secure, and automated digital framework. By strategically selecting a Decoupled Full-Stack Architecture and strictly adhering to international software quality (ISO/IEC 25010) and legal standards, the project has successfully delivered a robust engineering tool that optimizes salon capacity through its specialized algorithm while drastically reducing the administrative overhead that previously hindered the technician's daily productivity. The system effectively bridges the technical gap between manual labor and automated efficiency, providing a professional interface that fosters customer trust and operational stability.

4.5 Impact of the Design

4.5.1 Societal

The design of this appointment system directly aligns with UN Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) 8: Decent Work and Economic Growth by empowering a local micro-enterprise with professional digital tools necessary to compete effectively in an increasingly digital economy. By implementing the Capacity-Limiting Algorithm, the system mitigates technician fatigue and prevents operational burnout by enforcing a strict three client daily limit, thereby promoting a sustainable and healthy work-life balance for the solo entrepreneur. Furthermore, by providing 24/7 accessibility for the community to browse services and secure appointments without communication barriers, the project enhances the local wellness industry's accessibility and modernizes the service provider relationship within the Caloocan City area.

4.5.2 Ethical

The system upholds the highest standards of professional and ethical integrity by ensuring complete transparency in service pricing through its automated receipt generation and fixed service constants. Ethically, the platform prioritizes the duty of care by implementing a specialized Allergy Tracking module, ensuring that the technician is aware of client sensitivities before any chemical-based nail service is performed. By preventing unauthorized access to sensitive financial history and appointment records through Role-Based Access Control (RBAC), the platform fosters a relationship of trust and accountability between the business and its client base, ensuring that the salon operates with the same ethical rigor as large-scale wellness clinics

4.5.3 Legal

The architectural design of the platform is in strict technical compliance with the Republic Act No. 10173 (Data Privacy Act of 2012) of the Philippines. All personal information acquired through the system, including names, contact details, and sensitive health related allergy records etc., is protected through data encryption and validated via Pydantic models to ensure it is handled with the highest level of confidentiality. The system's login and signup authentication mechanisms, following OWASP ASVS Level 1 guidelines, fulfill national legal obligations regarding the protection of individual information in digital communication systems, ensuring that the salon is legally shielded from data integrity risks.

4.6 Sustainability Plan

To ensure the long-term technical and operational viability of the Bléum Nails By Micah Appointment System, the project utilizes standard, energy-efficient web hosting environments that minimize the overall environmental footprint. The sustainability of the software itself is rooted in the Separation of Concerns (SoC) principle, where the modular nature of the Decoupled Architecture allows for independent updates to the user interface or backend logic without requiring complete system overhaul. This modularity provides a clear pathway for future scalability, such as the addition of new localized payment gateways or multi-service categories as the salon grows. Furthermore, by adhering to W3C Web Standards, the system's codebase remains compatible with future browser iterations, significantly extending the software's operational lifespan and reducing the need for costly, high-frequency redesigns.
